Frank Ward, who has been spending the winter in Chicago with his sister, Mrs. W. C. Gaston and other relatives, returned home Sunday. Frank has been in poor health for some time but seems to be very much improved. SALUTATORY.

In taking leave of the great family of readers of the CHARITON Courier last week, Mrs. C. P. Vandiver and Miss S. Vaughan appounced the sale of the paper to the undersigned, and stated that our work would begin with this issue. But to them is due all credit for this issue, as the writer was unavoidably detained at his old home until this week's press hour.

The next issue, March 17, will be the first endeavor we shall make to produce, in Chariton county, a newspaper that we For collector:hope to make in the future (as nearly as possible) as worthy as it has been in the 41 fears past.

The Courier will be a proressive Democratic local newspaper-a champion of law enforcement, sobriety, honesty in public and private affairs, and devoted-to the best of our ability-to the best interests of the town, county and state, It will continue to be a clean family

The new editor will appreciate my news, business or other favore extended to him person. ally, or to his representative, Mr. Frank Smith, an all-round Southern newspaper hustler, who will arrive late this week or the first of next week. Mr. Smith will solicit advertising, subscriptions, job printing, etc., and strive to secure as much local news for the Courier as possible.

Many words by other newspapers, commending the Courier, have reached this office, but space forbids the use of them this week. They will appear in the March 17 issue. Most of them premises by building a substanshow the esteem in which "The tial poultry house.
